The Weather

The High Yesterday: 59° The Low this Morning: 33°

The National Weather Service updated this statement at 1:55am Saturday: "A strong winter storm system will track across Texas late tonight into Sunday. Widespread precipitation will form within this storm system, transitioning from rain to snow across much of the region on Sunday. While there still remains uncertainty on the exact snowfall amounts that can be expected, and where the heaviest snow amounts will occur, accumulating snowfall appears likely for portions of North and Central Texas beginning late tonight and continuing through the day Sunday"
