Water Well Screening in Burnet

The Texas Well Owner Network, TWON, is hosting a "Well Educated" water well screening Feb. 9 in Burnet to give area residents the opportunity to have their well water screened.

Water samples will be screened for contaminants, including total coliform bacteria, E. coli, nitrate-nitrogen and salinity. Water samples can be dropped off from 8:30-10am at the following locations:

* Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service office for Burnet County, 607 N. Vandever, Burnet.

* Central Texas Groundwater Conservation District Office, 225 S. Pierce, Burnet.

The cost of water sample screening is $15 per sample.

The follow-up meeting to explain the results of the screenings will be at 1pm Feb. 10 at the AgriLife Extension office for Burnet County.

"The program was established to help well owners become familiar with Texas groundwater resources, septic system maintenance, well maintenance and construction, and water quality and treatment," said Joel Pigg, AgriLife Extension program specialist and TWON coordinator, Bryan-College Station. "It allows them to learn more about how to improve and protect their community water resources."

The screening is presented by AgriLife Extension and Texas Water Resources Institute, TWRI, partnership with the AgriLife Extension office in Burnet County and the Central Texas Groundwater Conservation District, TGCD.

Sampling instructions

Pigg said the TWON program is for Texas residents who depend on household wells for their water needs. Area residents wanting to have their well water screened should pick up a sample bag, bottle and instructions (cont'd on back)

The Burn Ban has been lifted.

(cont'd from front) from the AgriLife Extension office or the TGCD office, Pigg said. "It is very important that only sampling bags and bottles from the AgriLife Extension office be used and all instructions for proper sampling are followed to ensure accurate results," he said.

Private water wells should be tested annually, he said. The samples will be screened for contaminants, including total coliform bacteria, E. coli, nitrate-nitrogen and salinity.

Pigg said it is extremely important for those submitting samples to be at the Feb. 10 meeting in order to receive results, learn corrective measures for identified problems and improve their understanding of private well management.

Infection Linked to Eye Drops

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention is recommending that consumers and health care providers immediately stop using EzriCare Artificial Tears as it investigates a "multistate cluster" of infections that testing has linked to the eye drops. At least one death has been associated with the infections.

Infections have been found in 50 patients in 11 states, the CDC said, adding that most of them had used artificial tears and that the mostly commonly used brand was Ezricare.

Results in some patients included "permanent vision loss resulting from ocular infection, hospitalization and [the] death of one patient with bloodstream infection," the CDC said, noting that the bacterial infections are often resistant to antibiotics.

The CDC said it "recommends that clinicians and patients immediately discontinue the use of EzriCare Artificial Tears" until its probe and lab tests are complete. The agency is working with state and local health departments on the issue.

Ezricare said it hasn't received any consumer complaints or reports of adverse reactions related to the investigation or any word from any regulatory agencies about the probe, and it hasn't been asked to conduct a recall.

Still, the company said that "in an abundance of caution," it strongly emphasized that customers stop using "any portions of EzriCare Artificial Tears Lubricant Eye Drops you may have until we can discover more details about any potential safety concerns."
