Area USDA Funding

The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) will invest $400,000 this year to help agricultural producers improve water quality in two high-priority watersheds in Texas through the National Water Quality Initiative (NWQI). The additional funding application deadline is May 7th, 2021.

Designated watersheds for 2021 are the Lampasas River Watershed near the towns of Lampasas, Kemper and Briggs, Texas, and the Lake Lavon watershed, which is the uppermost reservoir on the East Fork of the Trinity River and is a primary source of raw water supply for the North Texas Municipal Water District.

Through NWQI, NRCS offers technical and financial assistance to farmers and ranchers to implement practices that avoid, control and trap nutrients and sediment, which can negatively impact water quality. Practices include filter strips, cover crops and manure management to promote soil health, reduce erosion, and lesson nutrient runoff.

NWQI is a partnership among NRCS, state water quality agencies and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency to identify and address impaired water bodies through voluntary conservation. Through the initiative, NRCS provides targeted funding for financial and technical assistance in small watersheds most in need and where farmers can use conservation practices to address impaired surface water. In 2019, NWQI was expanded to include protection of both surface and ground sources of drinking water.

Badger Baseball in Lampasas Radio Studios

Lampasas Badger Baseball Coach Chance Evans visited Lampasas Radio studios this morning talking with Ronnie Witcher, also in attendance was Tak Stinnett, and Avery Smith. When asked about Tuesday's loss to Brownwood, Coach Evans shared that they were able to 'get the bats going', and Lampasas was not, the Lions also have a pitcher that had good velocity, hitting the low 80's in pitching speed.

The evenly matched district came up again, and the playoff picture is murky, given how closely matched all the schools are. If Brownwood and Gatesville each win one more, it could be head-to-head competition for the District Championship.

The game on Friday is scheduled on Badger turf, and Coach Evans will check the field this PM for standing water, but only time, wind and sun will dry the field. If there is a delay, there could be either a change of venue, or changing of the day, or both. As Mr. Witcher summed it up:

1) hope for no rain 2) win the game.

Also the Badger Baseball Hamburger Dinner is planned for tomorrow from 5-6:30pm. If there is inclement weather, the dinner will be postponed until next Tuesday.

If you can't make it to the game, we do plan to broadcast over KACQ FM 101.9 radio, and stream at lampasasradio.com at the listen live button.
