USDA Relief Payments

From the Texas Farm Bureau-The state's largest general farm organization said Texas farmers and ranchers will benefit from emergency relief payments announced today by the U.S.

Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Payments from USDA's Farm Service Agency's Emergency Relief Program (ERP) for producers impacted by natural disaster events in 2020 and 2021 will help offset crop yield and value losses during those years.

"We appreciate USDA's efforts to address the hardships from natural disasters in 2020 and 2021," Texas Farm Bureau President Russell Boening said. "We had been anticipating the program's announcement for several weeks, so we're pleased that applications can now be completed for assistance."

Phase one of ERP eligibility covers losses to crops, trees, bushes and vines due to a qualifying natural disaster event in calendar years 2020 and 2021. Eligible crops include all crops for which crop insurance or NAP coverage was available, except for crops intended for grazing. Qualifying natural disaster events include wildfires, hurricanes, floods, derechos, excessive heat, winter storms, freeze (including a polar vortex), smoke exposure, excessive moisture, qualifying drought and related conditions. For drought, ERP assistance is available if any area within the county in which the loss occurred was rated by the U.S. Drought Monitor as having a severe drought for eight consecutive weeks or extreme drought or higher level of drought intensity. (cont'd)

Lampasas Sheriff's Dept. blotter for Monday shows Lometa with a livestock issue. In Kempner there were animal/livestock issues, a reported harassment, medical calls and an assault. Out in the county there were animal issues, civil matters, a request for extra patrol, an abandoned vehicle report, medical calls, and a reported stolen vehicle. Deputies went into Cove on reported threats, livestock issues and a civil matter.

(from front) Phase two of ERP is intended for crop and livestock producers who did not participate in or receive payments through the existing programs that are being leveraged for phase one implementation.

"Texas farmers and ranchers are struggling to manage the much higher costs of production that they're paying due to inflation and disruptions in supply chains," Boening said. "Any assistance from the Emergency Relief Program that can help offset past losses because of natural disaster will be welcome by producers."

Convicted Murderer Still on the Loose

It's been four days since a convicted murderer being transported on a Texas prison bus was able to remove his handcuffs, cut through a metal door to an armed driver, temporarily take control of the vehicle and flee on foot, according to prison officials.

The unusual escape and extended manhunt have prompted state and federal officials to offer a $50,000 reward for information leading to Lopez's capture, with the lion's share coming from the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"We will not rest until Lopez is caught," Bryan Collier, executive director of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, said in a statement Saturday.

Lopez was sentenced to life in prison in 2006, after he was convicted of capital murder in the 2005 death of José Guadalupe Ramirez. According to court records, Lopez confessed to police that he killed the man on an order from a Mexican drug cartel. Lopez was later given another life sentence for attempted capital murder during a 2004 car chase in Webb County.

On Thursday afternoon, Lopez was aboard a bus with 15 other prisoners and two veteran prison officers. He was headed from the Hughes Unit in Gatesville, where he is housed, to Huntsville for a medical appointment, according to TDCJ spokesperson Robert Hurst.

CBS News on KCYL 1450am

On the bus, the prisoners were handcuffed and separated by metal caging from the armed driver and a second officer in the rear of the bus carrying a shotgun. Hurst said such a setup is typical for prisoner transports.

Somehow, however, Lopez managed to get out of his handcuffs. And without being detected by either guard, the prisoner used a sharp object to cut through the metal door separating the prisoners from the driver and crawled into the driver's section, Hurst said. A fight ensued, and Lopez stabbed the driver in the hand and chest with the unknown object.

The driver was able to stop the bus, and the fight between the two men quickly moved outside, Hurst said. Lopez got back into the bus, seemingly at about the time the officer in the rear leapt out the back after realizing there was a fight. With no officer on board, Lopez drove off.

The officer armed with a shotgun quickly shot out the rear tires, however, so after about a mile, Lopez lost control and the bus veered into a culvert on the side of the road. Lopez fled on foot through a cow pasture, Hurst said. The two officers caught up and fired at him with their sidearms and the shotgun, though Hurst said it didn't appear Lopez was hit.

"We immediately went into emergency mode with an escaped inmate on the ground," Hurst said, noting that TDCJ personnel rapidly set up a perimeter with the help of the Leon County Sheriff's Office and a local police officer.

On Friday, DPS put Lopez on the state's Most Wanted list, offering a reward for $7,500. The next day, the state police agency raised the amount to $35,000, with the U.S. Marshals Service and the Texas prisons investigative branch offering another $10,000 and $5,000, respectively, TDCJ reported.

On Monday, Hurst said the agencies have not yet received any credible tips. The agency has asked anyone with information on Lopez to call 1-800-832-8477 or 936-437-5171.
