Lampasas Burglary Suspect Arrested

Miguel Zepeda, 22, was arrested yesterday in Lampasas for a string of robberies that took place in February of 2022. According to police the businesses broken into were Mojo's Coffee, Donut Palace, Lucy Suz, and Memo's Restaurant. Each business had money stolen and property vandalized and destroyed.

The Lampasas Police Department identified Zepeda as one of the suspects in the case from fingerprints and he was indicted by the Lampasas Grand Jury in October of 2022. Zepeda and Cameron Bain, who was arrested in November 2022 on the charges, were said to possibly have been involved in multiple other burglaries in Texas.

Arrest warrants were issued and Zepeda has now been taken into custody in Lampasas County.

Bain was sentenced in February of this year to 1 year for each burglary.

Broadband in Texas

Last month, Texas lawmakers passed a bill that allocates $1.5 billion to expand internet availability across the state through the new Broadband Infrastructure Fund. If approved by voters in November, that money will be added to an undetermined amount of federal dollars the state will receive.

With billions of dollars on the line and 7 million Texans needing to be connected, broadband service providers and local officials are worried about how far that money can be stretched and whether it will go to the places that need it most.

The Legislature passed a bill this session that would force the Broadband Development Office to prioritize infrastructure projects that use fiber technology. Fiber can deliver speeds that are significantly higher than DSL or satellite, but laying the infrastructure for it is costly and may be unattainable in rural areas.

Senate Bill 1238 allows the state to consider alternative technologies in high-cost areas. Texas Comptroller Glenn Hegar, who also oversees the Broadband Development Office, stressed that having alternatives to fiber could help expand availability in areas where fiber may not be suitable.

Since the broadband map was released earlier this year, Texans from across the state have disagreed with the results, saying they don't have service where the map says they do. There have been doubts over the federal broadband map as well, which will be used to determine how much broadband funding each state will receive from the infrastructure law passed in 2021. There have been more than 2,200 challenges filed to the state's map, according to data submitted to the state comptroller's office.

The FCC continues to accept map challenges and will release another map in the spring, according to a statement from FCC Chair Jessica Rosenworcel. The state is also continuing to review the thousands of challenges to its map that have been submitted.
