Border Plans

According to the Texas Tribune, Gov. Greg Abbott announced Thursday that Texas will build a border wall along the state's boundary with Mexico — but provided no details on where or when. Abbott declared his plans during a press conference with several State Agencies involved in the Border Crisis. In Del Rio, he said he would discuss the plans next week.

Abbott announced the news while discussing a slew of border initiatives, such as a $1 billion allocation for border security in the state budget lawmakers just passed and a plan to establish a Governor's Task Force on Border and Homeland Security with public safety and state government officials.

Two weeks ago, Abbott deployed more than 1,000 Texas Department of Public Safety troopers and National Guard members to the border as part of Operation Lone Star — an initiative he announced in March aimed at beefing up security at the border. Abbott later expanded those efforts to also tackle human trafficking at the border, including a plan for DPS troopers and Texas Rangers to interview unaccompanied minors that cross the border to identify potential human trafficking victims.

According to the Governor's website, Governor Abbott intends to sign the state budget that appropriates more than $1 Billion dollars for border security,
