Current Situation August 25, 2022 at 6:30 p.m.

Yesterday, Texas A&M Forest Service firefighters did not respond to any new requests for assistance on wildfires.

Happy Birthday

Clara Lundy-70
David Sawyer

Beneficial rainfall has allowed firefighters the opportunity to increase containment on several carryover wildfires as well.

Long duration, heavy rainfall is expected with a frontal system moving into the state through Wednesday. Little to no fire activity is expected this week based on forecast conditions that should improve fuel dryness and reduce fire weather concerns.

There are currently 166 counties with burn bans.

Active Wildfires: Texas A&M Forest Service fire resources are not currently responding to any active wildfires.
