The Weather

The High yesterday was 59° The Low this morning 35°

Today: A 20% chance of rain this afternoon, otherwise cloudy with a high near 62° and S-SW wind 5-10 mph becoming easterly.

Tonight: Rain and sleet is likely before midnight, then rain, snow, freezing rain and sleet as the temperature falls fast, down to 24° before morning. The NE wind which heralds this sudden cold front will increase to 15-20 mph and gust to 30. The chance of precipitation here is 80% but little or no ice accumulation is expected and the snow and sleet accumulation is expected to be less than ½ inch.

Tuesday: A 40% chance of snow. Cloudy and cold with a high near 26°. Wind chill will be 9 to 15° with the north wind 10-20 and gusting to 25 mph. New snow accumulation of less than a half inch is possible. Overnight, expect it to get down 16°.

The rest of the Week: Wednesday morning early will be bitter cold and it won't get much better during the day, up to 36°. Thursday will bring another chance of rain or sleet, but temperatures above freezing will come after the early morning lows. ## Martin Luther King, Jr Day

It's celebrated on the 3rd Monday in January every year since 1986.

Dr. King was assassinated in 1968 and, if he had lived, he would have been 89 now.

He was a central figure in the fight for equal rights for all people in America, regardless of race.

During his lifetime there was extreme racism, Jim Crow standards in the Deep South, lynching and murders of African Americans, and wrongs that were so heinous that most of today's millennials find it hard to imagine.

Yet, in spite of the terrible wrongs and difficult times, Martin Luther King insisted on peaceful protest by his followers. His speeches condemned the existing racism, but seemed to refrain from personalizing or demonizing individuals, and there was hope, always hope, in his messages.

When we think about Dr. King, most of the time those words that come to our mind are, "I have a dream."

That's what Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. means to me. He was a man that held on to a dream that America would one day be a place where simple humanity would reign and give all people equal rights and equal chances; a country where love and fairness would be the standard and where peaceful, inclusive discussion would be the way in which we determine our path.

Dr. King's legacy, above all, represents hope. We can have that dream that the evils of men will be overcome by our better angels – and that we shall overcome, some day. RW

The Blotter

Lampasas Police Dept. blotter report for Saturday showed an arrest for considerable drugs.

The Reserve Champion award, from the Exotic-Medium division, was taken home by Kaeson Raub of Lampasas. Kaeson also took the Intermediate Showmanship Award. ## Sales Tax Checks Are In

The Texas Comptroller, Glenn Hegar, reports that $709 million has been distributed to local governments around the state for their part of the sales tax collected in November, 2017. With retail stores under pressure from mail-order online sellers, it is especially interesting to see how local sales taxes are affected. That may best be seen by next month's check, when the December sales tax report is in.

For this one, the City of Lampasas has a check for $150,641, down .01% from the same month last year.

The City of Kempner got $9,828.68, which is down 16.43% from the same month last year.

The City of Lometa got $7,169 and that was down 3.11% from last year.

The City of Burnet got $170,912 which was up from last year by 5.51%.

The City of San Saba got $44,464, up .37% from last year.

The City of Goldthwaite got $35,948, up 15.28%.

The City of Copperas Cove got $391,467, up 12.85%.

Sports

Badger Basketball

The Lady Badgers are now 15-15/2-4 and working hard to get the wins they need to get back in the running for a playoff slot. They'll have their best chance Tuesday when they host Taylor in a 7:30pm game in Badger Gym. This marks the start of the second round of district play for the Lampasas girls. In the first round they beat Taylor. It's important that they get the win again.

For those that got used to the Badger girls playing the 6:15pm game and the boys playing the finale at 7:30pm... change is coming Tuesday when the girls begin playing the late game and the boys playing at 6:15pm.

The Lampasas Badgers boys team (17-8/1-3), like the girls team, is looking for those wins needed for the playoff competition. They have 1 win out of 4 district games and in order to get in the playoffs they'll have to be around 6-6 or better. District Standings right now are: Burnet 5-0, Liberty Hill 4-0, Glenn 2-2, Salado 2-2, Lampasas 1-3, Llano 1-4 and Taylor 0-4

The Badgers will host the Taylor Ducks Tuesday with the Varsity game at 6:15pm and all games are fairly critical to the Badger team from this point on.

Wrestling

The Lady Badgers wrestling team, under Coach Rosa Brandan, competed on Saturday in the Heard Memorial Invitational in Azle.

Makenzie Best took 3rd place with a 2-3 record on the day.

Kaylan Sullivan lost a heartbreaker for first place, taking 2nd with a 3-1 record.

Zoe Bradley placed third and had some tough matches. Other competitors were Alex Hamilton and Natalie Denoso who improved their skills against some stiff competition.
