The Burn Ban has been lifted through November 21st

Legally, the county has not deviated greatly enough to be obligated to redistrict. However, redistricting would allow districts to receive services that they need but currently are not obtaining. If considered, the lines must be redone by November 13 and new voter registration cards would need to be sent out for the upcoming elections. This matter will be discussed later, and no action is being taken at this time.

There will be a called meeting on November 11th even though it is a holiday. The meeting will cover redistricting and will be at the County Annex building 1st floor conference room at 12:30pm.

Texas Poll on the Economy

According to a poll by the University of Texas and the Texas Tribune, Texas voters are feeling down about the state and national economies and pessimistic about the country's general direction, according to the latest University of Texas/Texas Tribune poll.

Fifty-five percent of respondents said the national economy is worse than it was a year ago. That figure includes 25% of Democrats, 51% of independents and 80% of Republicans. When evaluating Texas, 38% of respondents — the plurality — said the state economy is doing worse than it was a year ago. Both Republicans and Democrats shared that sentiment. Twenty-one percent of respondents said the state economy is doing better than a year ago, and 34% said it is about the same.

The data indicates that Texans are still reeling from the economic fallout of the ongoing coronavirus pandemic, according to Joshua Blank, research director for the Texas Politics Project at the University of Texas at Austin.

“When it comes to evaluations of the state economy, Democrats and Republicans view it equally negatively relative to a year ago,” Blank said. “It just reflects the reality on the ground here, that no political posturing can paper over, which is the fact that we’re still recovering from the economic consequences of the pandemic. And that has hit everybody regardless of your partisan affiliation.”

About one in three Texas voters said their personal economic situation is worse now than it was a year ago. Just 20% indicated being better off, and 43% said they were doing “about the same.”

More Texas voters than not said they think the state is headed in the wrong direction. Forty percent of Texans said the state is headed in the right direction, while 48% said the state is on the wrong track.
